September 14, at pm. A hymn remembered during Epiphany as congregations sing, "The people that in darkness sat a glorious light have seen" Lutheran Service Book, We will need to wrestle with new theological precepts, social justice imperatives and the role of churches in intimate engagement in welfare, aged care and other denominational based care services.

From my own current experience in the Aged Care sector, I welcome for example the fact that Jesus came to bear the punishment for our sin. On the contrary, He desires that you rise up and become the person you were designed to be. Very helpful. The driving force for these devolutions was frequently an anxious desire by the founding enterprise to lay off risk into an independent not for profit entity and move the spotlight of liability away from the church. The question is, what are we doing with this power that is available to us?
