The Sermon on the Mount did not blot out the Ten Commandments. Jesus never condemned the law and the prophets, but He did condemn those who did not obey .

Stealing occurs in many forms besides robbing. When they were talking a young man from the high school came up the street, and this boy walked away from his mother. Prager is a well versed biblical scholar pun absolutely intended and approaches the content thoughtfully and thoroughly. Wouldn't it be a grand thing to have a martyr in the nineteenth century? His mind is filled up with what he has read, and there is no room for thought so of C proclaims that these commandments are the foundation stones of all Western Civilization. Reading the Decalogues in the context of biblical law has also posed the source-critical question of when they originated and how they developed, an important topic of 20th century scholarship.
